

Senior Placement Agents - Assisted Living Matchmakers

A Senior Placement Agent (SPA) specializes in helping older adults and their families find the most suitable living arrangements when independent living becomes challenging. These professionals are knowledgeable about various senior housing options, including assisted living, memory care, independent living communities, and nursing homes.

SPAs typically earn a commission from the senior living facilities where they place clients. This commission is usually a percentage of the resident's first month's rent or a one-time fee. Because SPAs are paid by the facilities, their services are most often free to clients. In some cases, SPAs may charge a flat fee to clients, though this is less common. This might happen in situations where a client is seeking an unbiased recommendation without the influence of commission structures.

Key Services

1. Personalized Assessments:

They begin by understanding the senior's unique needs, preferences, health conditions, and financial situation to identify the best possible living environment.

2. Options Research:

Based on the assessment and the SPA's extensive knowledge of local communities, they research and present a curated list of suitable housing options, saving families time and stress.

3. Facility Tours and Coordination:

Senior placement agents arrange and often accompany families on tours of selected facilities, helping to ask the right questions and evaluate each option thoroughly.

4. Transition Support:

They assist with the entire moving process, from helping to complete paperwork to coordinating the move itself, ensuring a smooth transition.

5. Cost and Care Guidance:

They provide insights into the cost of care and help navigate financial considerations, including understanding what is covered by insurance or government programs.

In essence, a Senior Placement Agent offers expert guidance and personalized support to help families make informed decisions about senior living, ensuring that their loved ones are placed in safe, comfortable, and appropriate environments where they can thrive. This service provides peace of mind during a challenging and emotional time.

Contact Us!
(877) 707-9111
info@apexcare.com
www.apexcare.com